

Weekly Citizen

ALBUQUERQUE, -- APRIL 4, 1896.

PEACE reigns in the political circles of Grant county.

The Williams News is the best weekly paper in Arizona.

The A. P. A. is cutting a big figure in Kansas city politics.

This is a republican year. Let the voters of Albuquerque keep in line.

The republicans have managed cuts and school affairs in a creditable way.

The railroad Pacific air company should be forced to pay more taxes in New Mexico.

For a while McKinley had things his own way, but the other boys seem to be having their turnings now.

The city republican primaries will be held this evening in the several wards. See our lead of the paper.

A good start has been made by the Fair association, and it is now the fact September 1st will be strictly a question of work.

A school-board school board can be secured by electing the men nominated at the primary meetings last Saturday night.

Trust will be no spring factor in this city. The place is as remarkable a thing in that time of the year as can be found in the country.

The democratic relatives are in earnest in their demand for reforming things; they are invited to vote the republican ticket.

Election seasons for members and members of the school board could not be found than those nominated at the ward primaries Saturday evening.

The republican nominees for aldermen will all be elected, and they will continue the economic policy that has been pursued by the present administration.

MEXICO as well as ourselves have a presidential election this year, and it is believed Diaz will be re-elected there as easily as Cleveland will not be re-elected here.

New England is as big as New Mexico and Mr. Reed will soon realize that he will need a few votes from our west to secure the presidential nomination.

The assignment of L. H. Hough, of Galveston, is one of the heaviest burdens ever incurred in the southwest, but although the judges had afterwards come to a decision that the judges had been appointed and the result certified by the board of canvassers and not by themselves, the litigants have persistently pursued the members of the board, without even going through the formalities of again presenting themselves to the court, and the board had become deadlocked and had adjourned. By the happenings of his official influence, he had moreover personally persuaded the members of the board, without even going through the formalities of again presenting themselves to the court, and the board had become deadlocked and had adjourned.

These tree silver fellows prospered under present laws, but eager to precipitate a financial panic by enacting a cent dollar law, ruined us of the sheaf that used to sweep the hair off the range of his back trying to crawl under the fence in order to get out of a rich pasture into a mud wallow.

Now would the silver craze be killed over here, who the agents of Wall-street are about to against it, such ponderous arguments as that.

POLITICAL.

In the senate the other day, Mr. Briar of Ohio and New York, at the instigation of our governor, whom he has evidently forgiven and taken to his bosom, denounced the provision in an appropriation bill for the meeting of our next legislature in May, 1897, instead of December, 1896, as "political." We suppose that this was intended to carry with it some implication of moral turpitude on the part of our delegate, Mr. Catron, and a corresponding moral superiority on the part of Thornton and Briar, but we are so blind to the excellence of the moral standard of William and Calvin, that we suppose Mr. Briar and his friends must feel no shame in admitting that the election in question is "political" in the proper sense of the word.

All of the republicans of New Mexico and a large portion of the democrats went the change so that the present legislative session of Santa Fe can have nothing to do with the organization of the new legislature. In 1894 the republicans elected a clear majority of both houses, yet the secretary of the territory, who is the governor, the surveyor general, the postmaster at Santa Fe and others, undoubtedly changed that majority into a democratic legislature. So, despite all respecting honor could be found to defend this action, and every intelligent democrat viewed it with alarm as calculated to bring his party into disrepute. Is it not a political hazard to present a repetition of this scandal? And we know it will be repeated if the same men are still in power when the next state assembly.

The public may have forgotten what was done here before, and we will undertake briefly to review a few of the more prominent of these crimes against the people.

Meet the election of the federal deputys to the south of Mori, and after the canvass of the election returns had been completed and the result certified by the board of canvassers and after the board had become deadlocked and had adjourned, by the happenings of his official influence, he had moreover personally persuaded the members of the board, without even going through the formalities of again presenting themselves to the court, and the board had become deadlocked and had adjourned.
